

Wait for me

A Life Divided

Wait for me

'Cause no one ever beat the summer

Wait for me

I couldn't never catch a barrel's losing speed

And no one cared about it at all

Pray for me

'Cause I just can't believe in God, I still can't see

The beauty of this walk, you must've lose in speed

Couldn't watch my back when I'm home

And this one goes on

And I'm afraid to see

Where is my coat?

Will you wait for me?

(Wait for me)

One must be swirled to stand so fast

No one will get you a second chance, seeing this love

Why does the rain just feel so bad?

Falling down inside your head, cleaning your soul

Wait for me

I cannot walk alone, I need your company

So far away from home like I have never been

It feels like that I'm losing control

Make me see

That every little step I take is humanly

'Cause every time I got away I fell so deep

So will you watch my back when I fall?

And this one goes on

And I'm afraid to see

Where is my coat?

Will you wait for me?

(Wait for me)

One must be swirled to stand so fast

No one will get you a second chance, seeing this love

Why does the rain just feel so bad?

Falling down inside your head, cleaning your soul

No one ever shown me the way

Everyone has thrown me a stick

No one ever shown me the way

Out of the cage I'm locked in

And everyone is carried away

How can I find better days?

Tell me how can I just fall on your way?

Still make me...

Stay...

Don't break me, don't break me

Don't break me, don't break me

Stay...

Don't break me, don't break me
Don't break me, don't break me
Stay...
Don't break me, don't break me
Don't break me, don't break me
