

Driven By Their Beating Hearts

A Silent Film

As I was waking up
The moon was fading
The folks had gone to ground
The day was breaking

Words don't come easily
When most I need them
I do not have a key
I am breaking in

There's people,
People going out of their mind
Right into each others arms
But I only want to be with you,
With you

There's people
People getting out of their cars
Driving by their beating hearts
But I only want to be with you,
With you

I don't believe my eyes
There's so much beauty here
A song for everyone
A song for every ear
Words don't come easily
When most I need them
I do not have a key
I am breaking in

There's people,
People going out of their mind
Right into each others arms
But I only want to be with you,
With you

There's people
People getting out of their cars
Driving by their beating hearts
But I only want to be with you,
With you

I want you
I want you to define me, to define me
I want you I want you to define me, define me
I want you I want you to define me, define me
I want you I want you to define me

There's people
People going out of their mind
Right into each others arms
But I only want to be with you
With you

There's people

Driving by their beating hearts
But I only want to be with you,
With you

I want you
I want you to define me, to define me
I want you I want you to define me, define me
I want you I want you to define me, define me
I want you I want you to define me

Driven by their beating hearts
Their hearts
Their hearts
