

Embers

Aaron

At the end of the world
Is there a path for my words
For you to reach them

I'm seeking another you
In every eye I'm running through
See me, I'm standing

Do you see me burning
Nothing has a name
Everyone is allaying
And I'm still on the train

On the edge of our wound
Dawn has given me a room
Where I can crumble

Foolish scenes of the night,
I saw your face in the light
There you were smiling

I hope you don't fear the dark
Now that no beats rule your heart
Anymore

Please don't you fear the dark
Just embrace the stars
Now you're part of the night,
You'll be safe in their light

The red clouds in the evening
When the sun meets the moon
Birds waltzing in the morning
I know it's all from you

The red clouds of the evening
When the sun meets the moon
Birds waltzing in the morning
I know it's all from you

I guess you've tried
I know you've tried