Chorus

The walls have ears, the windows have eyes And a wise man tells no lies
The walls have ears, the windows have eyes And a dead man tells no lies

Repeat

No lies, no lies, no lies
And a dead man tells no lies

If these walls could talk
They would tell you things you wouldn't believe
These windows have seen sights you couldn't imagine
And it can't be erased by Windex or a coat of paint

Chorus

Surprise!!!

For each and every wall that ever stood it has a story Some are not so obvious and some are self-explantory It's padded wall in my laboratory They're lookin through the keyhole of you dormitory Meanwhile, up in my observatory, my telescope sees the glory And it also sees the horror and the gory they speak derogatory These walls in this hotel room Tell more tales about fat tales and head It was heard but never said, instead the walls bleed Yeah, while they bleeding You could hear the couples cheating, undercover meetings Behind these seedy motel walls best believe they had it all Wreaking balls don't bounce against the wall To make that building fall The walls outside my apartment complex Building projects are so complex Yet they are taken all out of text Like the wall of Berlin, the wall of 'Nam, the wall of China And my tag on the wall as a reminder

Chorus

Now of course the eyes are the true windows to the soul As well as the window to the world's soul Whether plain glass or stained glass Every set of eyes has a set of windows with a set of eyes

Now tell me what the world would be
If we did not have windows (We did not have windows)
You would hardly ever catch the criminal or see the swindle
Everyone inside would need A/C when they assemble
A private penitentiary at home is what it might resemble
See my window-pane got so much pain
The glass is busting out the frame
So let the candle kindle in the window as a symbol
I be leavin' my window open hoping that I might get a breeze
But when the wind comes in the eyes

Come in and eyes don't seem to want to leave Because spying eyes by eyeing the prize And eyeing on your movement You can change your wall and windows With some building home improvement But looky looos they still be trying You look inside your window The walls will hear it ever single time you voice crescendos It's enough to make you tremble, leave you in limbo Can it also be simple? Because these are fundamentals For the mental so don't get sentimental Because these are not your windows These wall are really rentals They know everything your into And all the business that you tend to So keep your windows rolled up And don't hold up the wall against the floor And while you're window shopping Don't bother stopping at my store I put a note in the window, but you couldn't read what is said So I took a rock and carved it in the glass and it read:

Chorus

Repeat