

I Write Summer Songs For No Reason

Acid House Kings

Getting used to this person
I know that I'm not gonna let her down
She's on my mind in the mornings
And every waking hour of the day

Stop pretending
You know that it's ending with you
With you
Stop pretending
You know what I'm sending to you
To you

You know I write summer songs for no reason
But to make you smile when you feel down
To take away the deepest frown
You know I write summer songs for no reason
But to take your mind of worldly things
To make you know what summer makes me think

Letting her do the talking
I have already said what there's to say
She's in the photos I've taken
And every story that I choose to tell

Stop pretending
You know that it's ending with you
With you
Stop pretending
You know what I'm sending to you
To you

You know I write summer songs for no reason
But to make you smile when you feel down
To take away the deepest frown
You know I write summer songs for no reason
But to take your mind of worldly things
To make you know what summer makes me think
