Afghan Whigs

Repeat these words
After me
In all honesty
Repeat these words
After me
If you dare to believe this
Yourself

Am I vain? Have I shame?
Are my thoughts of a man
Who can call himself sane?
Do I blame, all my pain
On the wickedness
I have arranged?
If I do, bring it down

Repeat these words
After me
In all honesty
Repeat these words
After me
If you dare to believe this
Yourself

Am I vain? Have I shame? Are my thoughts of a man Who can call himself sane? Is my fate, all the same As the man who has Walked the line straight If it is, bring it down

And I, I must rely, my dear And I, cannot deny, my dear There will be a reckoning Which was, is And is to come
