Losing a Future
Alex Day
This one's for history's sake
So I won't forget how it felt to lose you
When I break I'll let everyone see
Having the pain means there was once pleasure
And If I turn back time
If had once more chance
Would I say the same thing?
Would you break up with me twice?
And if you saw me now
If you heard the sound this guitar makes
Would it make you miss me at all?

I wrote this down So if I donâ $\in$ TMt love you tomorrow Iâ $\in$ TMll know I love you now Thatâ $\in$ TMs our last tragedy The damage yet done to my memory

No one will doubt me again When I say that I wasnâ $\in^{\mathbb{T}M}$ t loved And at times it was perfect And itâ $\in^{\mathbb{T}M}$ s hard to let go But losing our future wonâ $\in^{\mathbb{T}M}$ t cancel our past And if let you down If I pushed you away Then I donâ $\in^{\mathbb{T}M}$ t deserve my right to complain And if youâ $\in^{\mathbb{T}M}$ re doing fine and thereâ $\in^{\mathbb{T}M}$ s light in your eyes Maybe I was holding you back all this time

I wrote this down So if I donâ $\in$ TMt love you tomorrow Iâ $\in$ TMll know I love you now Thatâ $\in$ TMs our last tragedy The damage yet done to my memory

This one's for history's sake
So I won't forget how it felt to lose you
This one's for history's sake
So I won't forget how it felt to lose you

I wrote this down So if I donâ $\in$ TMt love you tomorrow Iâ $\in$ TMll know I love you now
