

Another Battle

Allen-Lande

Lived in a nightmare
Never woke up
Search for peace
without result
Waiting for changes
That never came
Just another war
I've got to blame

I don't wanna live in your cold world
I don't wanna hear your evil words
Find another one who plays your game
I'm sure everything will be the same

I won't fight another battle
I won't take this anymore
I won't give you any reason
To not walk out through that door

No moments left of calm silent sea,
My hope is long gone, don't you come near
No more strength to argue you again
To your disappointment I won't show any fear.

I don't wanna live in your cold world
I don't wanna hear your evil words
Find another one who plays your game
I'm sure everything will be the same

I won't fight another battle
I won't take this anymore
I won't give you any reason
To not walk out through that door

I won't fight another battle
I won't take this anymore
I won't give you any reason
To not walk out through that door

I don't wanna live in your cold world
I don't wanna hear your evil words
Find another one who plays your game
I'm sure everything will be the same

I won't fight another battle
I won't take this anymore
I won't give you any reason
To not walk out through that door

I won't fight another battle
I won't take this anymore
I won't give you any reason
To not walk out through that door