Don't Deserve You

Amanda Perez

Tell me have you ever loved someone so much that it makes you w ant to cry Tell me have you ever loved someone that no matter what they di d you needed them by your side O I'm losing my mind, steady thinking about you all the time O I'm telling you this is it, I can't live with out your kiss

Baby I know that I can't live without you in my life But baby why can't I just do all the things that's right O baby I know that I can't live without you in my life But I can see it when I look at you I can see it now that I don't deserve you

So many nights I sat and fooled with you Not even realizing that I might lose you Never admitting that I make mistakes. Not having no more of them tears falling down your face But sometimes love is hard to recognize, even when you see it w ith your own two eyes Why do I feel this way in my life? Why can't I just run and hide from all the blame that I've give n you. Tell me why because I don't deserve you

Baby I know that I can't live without you in my life But baby why can't I just do all the things that's right O baby I know that I can't live without you in my life But I can see it when I look at you, I can see it now that I do n't deserve you

I don't deserve to feel your touch... O I don't deserve to feel your love I don't deserve to feel your lips, to have your kiss But baby I don't deserve you, I don't deserve you O baby I know that I can't live without you in my life But baby why can't I just do all the things that's right O baby I know that I can't live without you in my life But I can see it when I look at you, I can see it now That I don't deserve you

Tell me have you ever loved someone so much that makes you want to cry Tell me have you ever loved someone that no matter what they di d you needed them by your side