

Weather

Amel Larrieux

Whenever you awake and find your inner light is gray
Can I suggest a simple remedy to make your day
Open up your windows and then open wide your eyes
Let the vision peace of cool and golden yellow sunrise
You might be aching 'cause the one you love is far away
Think it is impossible to make it through another day

You can feel better take it from me
Just look at the colors of the fine autumn leaves
Let them put you at ease
As long as we have the weather
The dark skies will find us and the clear day to remind us
As long as we have the weather
The sunlight will guide us and the rain most surely find us

God created changing seasons not in vain
The beauty of the weather's here will sum distraction from our pain
Let the warm summers mist you let a winter snow fall and tramp you
You don't have to pay nothing today ..
Let the winter winds blow your pain away
Let the blue skies be your secret get-away
I got the anecdote to keep you cool
You should listen up because nature has no rules
