

Heavy On My Heart

Anastacia

Try to fly away but it's impossible
And every breath I take gives birth to deeper sighs
And for a moment I am weak so it's hard for me to speak
Even though we're underneath the same blue sky
If I could paint a picture of this melody
It would be a violin without it's strings
And the canvas in my mind sings the songs I left behind
Like pretty flowers and a sunset

It's heavy on my heart, I can't make it alone
Heavy on my heart, I can't find my way home
Heavy on my heart, so come and free me
It's so heavy on my heart

I've had my share of pleasure and I've tasted pain
I never thought i would touch an angel's wing
There's a journey in my eyes
It's getting hard for me to hide
Like the ocean at the sunrise

Love can you take me in the darkness?
And love don't let me down
There's a journey in my eyes
It's getting hard for me to hide
And I never thought I'd touch an angel's wing