As I drift away... far away from you, I feel all alone in a crowded room, Thinking to myself
"There's no escape from this fear regret loneliness..."

Visions of love and hate A collage behind my eyes Remnants of dying laughter Echoes of silent cries

I wish I didn't know now what I never knew then... Flashback
Memories punish me once again.
Sometimes I remember all the pain that I have seen.
Sometimes I wonder what might have been...

Visions of love and hate A collage behind my eyes Remnants of dying laughter Echoes of silent cries

And sometimes I despair At who I've become I have to come to terms With what I've done

The bittersweet taste of fate
We can't outrun the past
Destined to find an answer
A strength I never lost
I know there is a way,
My future is not set,
For the tide has turned
But still I never learned to live without regret.