

Time Machine

Anna Graceman

Look around,
Remember everything you have now but don't forget everything you lost now and everything you need now and everything you want now Woah ohhh ohhh

Look around,
Remember everything we have now but don't forget everything we lost now and everything we need now and everything we want now Woaah yeah woahhh woah

As i look at myself in the mirror
Everything used to be so much clearer
How could we ever be the same?

Walking `round like nobody's business
How did i think i could live this way?
Who am i kidding?

And i wish i could build myself a time machine
And i'd go back to the night when i said those things
I would erase those words that i said
clear those memories from your head
And you'd forget what a fool i've been
That night and i'd make everything so right
The night i changed everything

You say apologize
But i don't even recognize - what this is... yeah

Oh boy, what am i? A disgrace?
It looks like i've trashed this place - with my emotions...

And i wish i could build myself a time machine
And i'd go back to the night when i said those things
I would erase those words that i said
Clear those memories from your head
And you'd forget what a fool i've been
That night and i'd make everything so right
The night i changed everything

Ohhhhhhh!

Live like this forever - until there's one mistake It's now or never
And we'll live with a heartache of the one moment
It changed everything

And i wish i could build myself a time machine
And i'd go back to the night when i said those things
I would erase those words that i said
Clear those memories from your head
And you'd forget what a fool i've been

That night and i'd make everything so right
The night i changed everything