

A Wall

Artrosis

You touch a wall
And if you could
You would suck up its plaster
You want to pull a brick
To see
What is behind a wall when you sleep

The light of a slit
Clings to thoughts
When you are pushing through it
You feel breath
On your wet shoulders
Then run into a lift and falls down...