Frozen Soul

a soul made of ice and the invention of fire didn't melt my heart it got even colder my soul remains frozen as it has been for a thousand years no feelings at all you know I got no feelings at all frozen soul at the beginning of time i was born into a family of conquerors destined to do death stonecold obsession for the destruction of life you know that i'm the son of man you made me to what I am the fear of me is a product of your past forever, that's how long I'll last no feelings at all you know I got no feelings at all frozen soul I existby the grace of your coldness by the grace of a breed of rats by the grace of a god who failed by the grace of the one you hail you know that i'm the son of man you made me to what I am the fear of me is a product of your past forever, that's how long i'll last a soul made of ice and the invention of fire didn't melt my heart i got even colder no feelings at all you know I got no feelings at all frozen soul
