I just want to be your last is that too much to ask I know it can't be that much fun Playing these heartbreak games I can put it all in the past If you'll just let me be your one Let me be the last I think you've had your share of fun I just want to take the burden all the way You deserve a life and one true wife Let me be the last