She screams sweet hell In her old white nightie With rips and tears she's too aware See through big black bombs That explode on chickens All the while she thickens From Cracks in the mortar Cracks in the mortal Babys got ruby jewel lashes That'll whip your spine I see you grew into That stiff gray suit they've sewn for you Scrub you clean Now you forget what you mean Wimpworm completely thick Its you who makes me sick With a great old brick and mortar Cracks in the mortar Cracks in the mortal Cracks in the mortar Babys got ruby jewel lashes That'll whip your spine Every time she blinks Makes me sink into ruby Ruby* ruby jewel lashes So I put on my best Sunday dress And I waltz straight into this mess of mine* posing as a guest Or something much less Than a crazy old doll in a crazy old dress Cracks in the mortar Cracks in the mortal Cracks in the mortar Babys got ruby jewel lashes That'll whip your spine Well the thin moon sugar It shines like a wino The thin moon sugar it shines like a wino for me