How have I found you?
How in the world?
Now that I've found you
You are my world
In these times that keep us guessing
You're my answer and my blessing
Pretty damn amazing, given
This peculiar world we live in

In this world That's lost all its reason At last there's a reason For hope in my heart In this world Unsure of its future So sure of you I say, let the future start! In this world That's yearning for someone To answer the call From out of the blue In this world I prayed there would come one Magnificent someone Someone like you

In this world
That's lost all its reason
At last there's a reason
For hope in our hearts
In this world unsure of its future
Somehow with you
I'm sure where the future starts
In this world
That's yearning for someone
To answer the call
From out of the blue
In this world
I prayed there would come one
Magnificent someone
Someone like you
