Dying Sun

Before the Dawn

By the powers vested in me By the entity of choice I pronounce myself dead At 4:18 am I am gathered here To remember the deceased within me

Last flames of the dying sun Will burn my world Creating a starless universe Awaiting the kingdom come And for rebirth of angels I sacrifice this earth

Lowered into the grave My empty casket So I can rest in peace Self created funeral Will finally purify By this burial The stains in me