Pitch-Black Universe

Before the Dawn

I have dreamed of a universe A pitch-black dimension Oblivion thru absence of the light

In my deepest slumber Reveries profound Darkness eternal around

Sun was torn asunder Light has been undone In starless sky with no moon to rise the tide

I have seen a parallel A void like dimension Nothingness beyond compare

In that dead cold Orbit of a black hole I am the spark A birth of star
