O Mighty Watcher! Thou art all and all art in Thee free me from mortals intoxicate with Thy self love O Mighty Sentinel! Thou art the concious one break the monotony ov existence that I may illuminate! uncrowned in Tarterean Sulphur elder than the Memphian kings Thy reign so timeless and infinite ever silent watchers, whom mankind yet aches to embrace grand me Thy Promethean rays blacker than light... cunquering lion-headed god by the name ov Legion dost Thou arrive Thou hast seen the prophets in the desert Thou hast bled for the fallen idols from beyond prevailing stregth hath made Thee greater than the god... from amongst the million dead angels army Azazel, begotten not ov human race honour the divinity vision ov victorious sun open wide your glimmering eyes bathe in divinity ov loneliness empowered in self creation shine inward! Shemyaza! the profoundest one spread Thy wings the desolate one Thy disease untamed within the sinister self... O Mighty Watcher! Thou art all and all art in Thee free me from mortals intoxicate with Thy self love O Mighty Sentinel! Thou art the concious one break the monotony ov existence that I may illuminate! [lead: Seth] [Chapter III: The splendorous return] [background lead: Nergal] beyond all cowardness! hast Thou no fear? spit out the blasphemy! strive unto sin... seduce Thyself

o mighty seer! the ancient voyager blind me with light the sleepless ones in aimless andering Thou must first fall to reign in blasphemy...