

You Say You Will

Beth Nielsen Chapman

You make me promises that you don't keep.
Tears are expensive, honey, words are cheap.
You tell me one thing then do something else.
And even though I know that all too well,
I keep forgiving, I keep forgetting,
I keep expecting you to change.

You say you will,
You say you will,
You say you will,
But you never do.

Love doesn't come with any guarantees,
It's give and take a little that's the key.
So I give you every little thing you choose,
You give me back a stack of IOU's.
There seems to be a pattern here.
How can I tell if you're sincere/

You say you will,
You say you will,
You say you will,
But you never do.

I keep forgiving, I keep forgetting,
I keep expecting you to change.

You say you will, everytime/
You say you will, you make it sound so sweet.
You say you will.
But you never do.

You say you will,
Oh, you say you will, baby.
You say you will,
But you never do.
Do you?

You say you will,
You say you will,
You say you will,
But you never, never, never, never do.

Ooh, no, no, no, no, no, no, no,
Never do, never do.

Say you will, you will,
But you never do.
