

Gone But Not Forgotten

Better Luck Next Time

It didn't kill me when you said goodbye, though it did upon the second try Music I had never heard before; opportunity closing the door

Gone, but not forgotten, you're still watching Sooner than later, there's no failure
Gone, but not forgotten, you're still watching;
just know we'll all be strong

There will be another time when it's all over, until then I'll find a way to just move forward

Another one is gone before their time, days after everything was fine Taking everything that I have learned, we're all just waiting for our turn

And I don't want to be here crying over everyone, so keep me busy underneath until I'm done I never wanted to be crying over anyone, I'll only be here all alone until I'm done
And I don't want to be here crying over everyone, when it's my turn then I'll be ready for my setting sun;
when I'm done