

Never Alone

Bif Naked

lying in your hotel bed you cry for the years that were wasted and time gone by darling girl can you not see your soul is bright i wish you could know it's all gonna be all right:

a little determination and a little more pride
a little determination will ease your pain inside.

let me tell you
that you're never alone
yeah, yeah:

red wine stains your lips and mind clouding memories from which you always hide little girl when will you learn to shake it off
try to smile or the pain surely will not stop..

a little determination and a little more pride
a little determination will ease your pain inside.

let me tell you
that you're never alone
yeah, yeah:

a sadness fuels your contemplation you must remember that your life's only just begun know you're in the eye of the hurricane a safe place only because there it doesn't rain:
a little determination and a little more pride
a little determination will ease your pain inside.

let me tell you
that you're never alone
yeah, yeah: