So hard to get to, but happy once you're there It's all the same to me, there is no difference I can see Well can you, take the boundaries of your cage? Don't need me to refine, the truth is just a bit unkind And she hates it when I play it straight like that The time has come it's now or never Can't afford to let it pass you by You can say I've been wondering forever Spinning your wheels till the day you die I can't imagine, no I haven't really tried To wait it out so long, you'll bend your feelings right or wron So that's why, now we're getting right to this Seems so wrong because it is, your stupid fucking aunt's a bitc h (funny) And she hates it when I play it straight like that The time has come it's now or never Can't afford to let it pass you by You can say I've been wondering forever Spinning your wheels till the day you die Until you die The time has come, it's now or never Can't afford to let it pass you by You can say I've been wondering forever Spinning your wheels till the day you die Until you die