An Ode To Death

Birds of Tokyo

Tell me how far will you go Would you take the life of another? Will you be the one to say no? Forgive and forget when you die my love

Never will I see the sun again

Leave it, just leave it alone You're picking the scab off another We're digging the dirt to expose The answers to all that we do not know

Never will I see the sun again Never will I see the sun again Where were you Monday? Where were you Monday? I was not missing I was dead

It's simple believe it or not It's easy to play out the ignorant The fever that burns in us all The price that you pay when you down my love.

Never will I see the sun again Never will I see the sun again Where were you Monday? Where were you Monday? I was not missing I was dead [x2]

You know I killed them all [x4]
