

Without You

Black Heaven

I am captured in the cycle of my loneliness
And Reality is so far away
Dreamscapes floating by, Im longing for your tenderness
Maybe I will find you someday

And I want rather die at once
Than live without you
You give me shelter from the pain

And I want rather fall asleep
Than wake up without you
You are the way out of this cruel game

Deep inside my soul emptiness is filling me
And thousand questions haunt my consciousness
Seasons floating by and I know I am close to you
But I can never feel your caress
