Burn

Black Tide

Are you man enough
To know when you are wrong?
To let the guilt sink in
And see what you're made of

I had to face that light
I had to face the truth
This grueling pride inside of me
Took a swing at my dreams

When will I find serenity

I never meant to give up
I just didn't know where to turn
Cause every single bridge I've crossed I've burned
I thought I was so much stronger
I swear I never meant to run
Seems every single thing I touch I burn

I was so intent
On making it alone
I shut out all your words
I was contrarious to the bone

So self destructive
How can I change this
This burning pride inside of me
Set ablaze my dreams

It took me years to say..that I was wrong

I never meant to give up
I just didn't know where to turn
Cause every single bridge I've crossed I've burned
I thought I was so much stronger
I swear I never meant to run
Seems every single thing I touch I burn

I'm damn sick of trying
To live with..with myself
I wanna burn!

I never meant to give up
I just didn't know where to turn
Cause every single bridge I've crossed I've burned
I thought I was so much stronger
I swear I never meant to run
Seems every single thing I touch I burn
