

Soak The Sin

Blind Melon

I've got to buy some shoes these ones are getting loose my feet are shrinking in the sun, and it ain't fun
But it looks like rain up ahead in forty miles.
A big rainbow took the blue sky I'm gonna tell my momma, I love her so thank you for giving me these bones of gold Yeah, jump in the ri----ver and let the water soak the sin in my soul

Fine time we all crossed lines make the music that makes us feel fine Rednecks on sun decks hearing a hillside Romeo say
"Boy's this is the good shit, so come on all and eat a little b it."
And if I ever go back home, I'm gonna set.

Don't even say a word, it con fuses me.
Whatever he says to do, is that we don't have to.
I said we don't have to.
