

Two Ghosts

Boy Eats Drum Machine

Woke up in time to see you turn into a ghost
From the top of the world
There's a view of sun so clean you can only look once
I see you carried away by the wind now
No matter what we say the things we claim dry out and blow away

It's over my love
Now were just a piece of the scenery in a painting signed anonymous
Over my love
Over just out of reach in retrospect I guess I loved you too much
Loved you too much
Loved you loved you when all I really needed was someone to touch
Someone to touch
Someone someone coarse enough to resist any powerful force

I hear a sound I think maybe you're here somewhere now
Sometimes you hear sometimes you see but you're only imagining
If there's a season there's got to be a reason for it
You make your peace you make your mistakes
Sometimes the world gives sometimes it takes

Open space (reprise)
I wanna go where the sky lies overhead peacefully peacefully
And well never have to turn from the sun
In an open space tomorrow in an open space tomorrow

I wanna go where we see these certain signs
That we only borrow time
And this place is partly yours and partly mine
In an open space tomorrow in an open space tomorrow

I wanna go to an open space tomorrow
