

Bricks And Windows

Brandtson

I won't be the one to wait outside your door watch it all fall down around your head
i won't be that one anymore

so shine on me the sun to white out my whole world catch it on my tongue these words once said that i won't be that one no not anymore

there's more than a million questions i could ask but it wouldn't matter at all so take me and tear me open i won't bleed until you're gone i don't understand your actions