

Worth the Fight

BROODS

Something tipped me over
Someone knocked me down
Emptied out my inside
Poured it on the ground

A cavern for a body
The deeper darker kind
For all I hear are echoes
Repeating inside my mind
I thought the shade around me
Was making me feel blind
I thought I was a hero
But I was just a child

So fill me up and let me try
To show you beauty from inside
I pray I will, I pray I might
Still be somebody worth the fight

Something brings me closer
To the sadder sounds
Builds the world around me
That once burnt to the ground

A cavern for a body
The deeper darker kind
For all I hear are echoes
Repeating inside my mind
I thought the shade around me
Was making me feel blind
I thought I was a hero
But I was just a child

So fill me up and let me try
To show you beauty from inside
I pray I will, I pray I might
Still be somebody worth the fight

I won't let you down
I won't let you down

So fill me up and let me try
To show you beauty from inside
I pray I will, I pray I might
Still be somebody worth the fight
I won't let you down
So fill me up and let me try
To show you beauty from inside
I pray I will, I pray I might
Still be somebody worth the fight
