

I wanna go where it's warm
I wanna go to where you were born
All I want is you even if I can't have it
Don't take me to a place I don't wanna go
Don't tell me something I already know
We're gonna learn everything from bad habits

And I give myself to the open water
And I give myself to the bleeding sun

I'm looking for something to take
I'm looking for a missing hot snake
Early bird gets an apple full of black maggots

Live it down till the day you die
Never look a needle in the eye
Open up, open really wide
You can't have it

And I give myself to the open water
And I give myself to the bleeding sun
I align myself with New England winter
And I give myself unto you
Drag it out, walk it home
San Diego

Let's go down and take a breath under water
Make like shipwrecks for a few centuries
You and I will relax into eternity

And become as bottomless as the sea
And I give myself to the open water
And I give myself to the bleeding sun
I will find you there through the foggy weather
And I give myself unto you
Drag it out, walk it home
San Diego
