Hold the hand of a liar (liar) it must be easier

Dreams he fought to conquer (conquer) was there ever anything? Years weighed upon my mother's face every single day (every single day)

Memories that I will not erase, you ruined (you ruined) my family

Her pride beat unto submission, and everyday she suffers, every day she suffers

Shes under the spell and the power of someone who hurts her Hes under, the guise of man, truly he's a coward

Empowered by the feeling he gets from seeing others cower at hi s hands, just to prove he can

You say he lost his heart that night (he never had) he never had one anyway

You say your drinking starts the fights, well im digging his fu cking grave
