

Railway Station

Camera Obscura

Walking through the town where you live
And I dream of another day
Daylight failing over the railings
Past your window

As another dream in the railway station
You're too late
You're gonna have to wait all day now
'Cause no one else will help you

Follow me to the seaside
It's fine for a daydream
They just let you down
They just let you down

Summer's gone incompletely
You're no one, you can disappear
If you don't try now
If you don't try again

On a sunny day I think
It gets hard to remember
They won't let you down
They won't let you down
They won't let you down

Seen something you've done
Far in a distance
You're waiting and watching
And don't think it's helping

They won't let you down
They won't let you down
They won't let you down
