Was running for my life,
Now when he was away.
The walking out was walking out
With all the tall little ways.
Just don't know what's it like,
Just don't know where am I,
Just don't know where I'm going,
I was going all the time.
Just don't know you can rise,
Just breaking wrong and right,
The stone there down is going,
Go away tonight.

Just don't know when you're right,
When I'm down, alright,
Just don't know where you are,
Just don't know you are there,
Just don't know where you are,
Where you run, the water run,
Just don't know where you go,
Where you're running out,
Just where you take a rest
And where the harvest,
Don't know where you're out.
