

Hermit's Cave

Cass McCombs

In my twenty-seventh year I set out to confront my fears And found the role of a lifetime You see, two plus seven is nine And the ninth card in the Tarot Is that Hermit I came to know In London I did deprave As if beyond the grave From my Hermit's Cave

I rarely ever went outside Excepting the daily stride I made me a weekly pot And read Bible quite a lot There, true loneliness I did learn Then I got a sick from Admiral Byrd My catharsis was crushed in a wave And my family I did crave Oh, wretched Hermit's Cave!!
