

There's a world inside my head
Waiting for the lights to change
Waiting for the sky to fall
I should've known by now

There's a moment of peace that comes
Always when the time is wrong
I'm always waiting for a sign
That should've shown by now

You said not to wait, time moves on
Only when you're leaving

Forever's just a moment in time, walking away
Now that it's over
It never seems to come in the night, to take it away
And we won't feel safe till it's time and time again

There's a moment of peace that comes
Always when the time is wrong
The world is waiting for a sign
That should've shown by now

You said not to wait, time moves on
Only when you're leaving

Forever's just a moment in time, walking away
Now that it's over
It never seems to come in the night, to take it away
And we won't feel safe till it's time and time again