I rest alone in a place I never thought I would be I have given everything I am Why must I feel empty Will I ever feel again? I have given everything I am All must live with vivid nightmares of life after death Plagued with images of a figure How can I bare this? Why must we bare this need to fulfill our nothingness they call serenity? I want to break out of this place To embrace this hate I shatter every mirror but yet you reappea With a crooked smile and weathered face The doors have been sealed shut To keep the secrets that lie within Through death's dark hollow I must fall to live in grave Only when my heart stops I will truly live again Shatter every mirror but yet you reappear With a crooked smile and weathered face
