

Woke up to the sound of lucidity, feet on the ground
Overwhelming delight wipes out the wreck of my Hollow mind

But when the dreams turn violent
Repulsive mirror likeness, if you lay out my broken bones
Beat up my heart with thirteen holes

Would want to see the tragedy
Of a mind that once belonged to me
Take one good glance and you'll agree
Like a said it's ugly, so goddamn ugly

But when the dreams turn violent
Repulsive mirror likeness, if you lay out my broken bones
Beat up my heart with thirteen holes

After the terror you've seen
Try to act like a good human being
Guess the ship I did steer, sank in the sea
Of self loathing and fear

Would want to see the tragedy
Of a mind that once belonged to me
Take one good glance and you'll agree
Like a said it's ugly, so goddamn ugly

(Solo)

But when the dreams turn violent
Repulsive mirror likeness, if you lay out my broken bones
Beat up my heart with thirteen holes