Late night comes are you home? No you're not You're out with urge to satisfy yourself it's your vicious plot Looking back I realize that it's my fault I'm not around so your love comes to a halt You have no remorse in you It's the only thing you know You destroy me every time you little cunt I never wanted this Gave myself to you to get paid back with lies Every time I trust you I lose in the end I feel disgust in myself I love how you can call me and pretend you're innocent While I'm out here trying to better myself You're a pig when it comes to my emotions You drown me in your wake because you have no devotion You have no remorse in you It's the only thing you know You destroy me every time you little cunt I never wanted this Gave myself to you to get paid back with lies Every time I trust you I lose in the end