

Dangerous Heart

Chris Norman

You're leaving me shaking like a dog in the cold
I thought that I knew you but what did I know?
My eyes were half open and you forced them apart
When I let you get close with your dangerous heart

You cut me so deep and waited to see
The blood that was dripping and draining from me
With your eyes all a blazing well you tore me apart
No mercy you showed with your dangerous heart

And I fell like a hammer oh, we laughed and we cried
With your crocodile tears all compassion denied
And the fight was all over well before it begun
You broke my resistance and the battle was won

You set me on fire then you left me to burn
With nobody listening and nowhere to turn
Then with eyes like a stranger you tore me apart
No mercy you showed with your dangerous heart

Well you showed me no mercy with your dangerous heart
