

Your Head Got Misplaced

Citizen

You keep quiet, looking over your shoulder.
You're careless at best, you're here because you don't learn.
You've got a place to hide,
Somewhere safe you found.
So I locked you in and I burned it down.

I heard all about you, your plans and how they fell through.
Your head got misplaced from everything that you do.

You've got a place to hide,
Somewhere safe you found.
So I locked you in.

And I want to take you up,
Want to see you through.
And I'll keep you there like I always do.
And I want to take you up,
Find a perfect fit.
And I'll lay out your bed just like you never did.

Somewhere safe you found.
