Psychopathia Sexualis

Clandestine Blaze

So fragile is the earthly domain of human life Much it wriggles in agony

When shadow of evil will is laid upon it

It's destiny was to be broken to pieces, to be torn by the power of deathlust

It is the clandestine fire, burning inside, feeding the evil will

Burning and scorning until it needs to be manifested Lust sickness, for evil will

Blood runs among the tears, when flesh is used like... Carving the manifest in living skin

Clandestine lust, seeking pleasure from suffering humanity

Leaving signs of degraded humanity, to haunt among the herd

There are beasts among you.