

I Came Into Your Store

Colin Hay

I came into your store
But I'm not buying anymore
So much for my will until the day I die
I will love you still

I walked in through your door
I swore I wouldn't anymore
So much for my word until the seas run dry
I will love you still

I want to love you like there's no tomorrow
If not I can pretend and play the highlights
Or I can lock the door and turn the closed sign
Or maybe I should let a little time pass

I look down at the floor
But I'm not crying anymore
So much for my tears until the day I die
I will love you still

I don't know what to say
But I like it more that way
A penny for your thoughts that and more I'd pay
Just to hear you say

I want to love you like there's no tomorrow
If not I can pretend and play the highlights
Or I can lock the door and turn the closed sign
Or maybe I should let a little time pass

I came into your store
But you don't work there anymore
