The last one to enter hell close the door and ring the bell Cause when we die; we do not end we regroup and fight again

And if we are to loose our way By mistake or by betrayal And be sent up to a god's care We will take the war over there

With the devil at our side And the moon as our guide We break the silent night And set the world alight

As we are falling down This is how we meet Preparing everything In the leap

There'll be a time
When all the fights are fought
There'll be a time
When all the bribes are bought
There'll be a time
A time you will call peace
There'll be a time
When death will cease

And we are falling down
This is how we die
Preparing everything
In the dive

There'll be a time
When all the fights are fought
There'll be a time
When all the bribes are bought
There'll be a time
A time you will call peace
There'll be a time
When death will cease
