Home Today

The Connells

Coming home today A season spent away It is hard for me to see Hard for me to say

I like your face But I can't anymore

It was quite a time And I'm sure that I'm Feeling very clear for me Very clear for you

I like your face But I can't anymore

Let's do it again I will recall There are things I could have done

I will recall There are things I should have shown

Did you find the time To keep us both in mind? Did you wander far from me Wander far from you?

I like your face But I can't anymore

Let's do it again I will recall There are things I could have done

I will recall There are things I should have shown

To dream is not to say I'll take it anyway A year is song enough for me Yet here we are today

I like your face But I can't anymore
