give me, give me the speed I need I want more life, don't need this state to last

I want more to burn, I want more to break so give me the speed I need my own movements feel so strange are we all insane, or is it only me?

believing, believing the free will to last, to burn, to die fail against my domination learn the sweetness of my mercy guide my reckless steel make me feel or fix my speed

no force too loud to try never reaching, never reaching through the glass scratching, itching my steel let go, let go, unknown mind motions, actions from a pure mind a rare thing! a wise thing?

so begin, move, crush so restless, dayless, always