

we were tasting the gutter I think I've seen your face before I walked around like a strutter and you were dressed up like a whore you tell the tale of a young girl who lost it to the night we were a part of this new world I never left you outta sight if you need me deep inside let me take you to the sky we can dream of you and I we never tried it, don't fight it tonight if you're excited don't hide it tonight in the rain without cover you put your body next to mine you had a tail like no other I drank whiskey

you had wine.