["It is not the critic who counts, nor the one who points out h ow the strong person stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to those who are act ually in the arena; whose faces are marred by dust and sweat an d blood; who strive valiantly; who err and come up short again and again; who know the great enthusiasm, the great devotion, a nd spend themselves in a worthy cause, who at the best know in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who are at the wor st, if failing, at least fail while daring greatly; so that the ir place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who kno w neither victory nor defeat." - Theodore Roosevelt]
